REBEL STRENGTH AT RICH TOND rebel force at Rickmond numbered but 86,000 men. It is true that prisoners have asserted it, but other prisoners put the rebel force as high as 200,000. The truth in all probability is between these extremes, say 140,000 men. One rebel prisoner would feel like understing the strength of his side in order to magnify their bravery; while another and shrewder one would underste their numbers for the purpose of discouraging our army from attempting to take Richmond. The advantage the rebels had was, in selecting their point of attack, and falling on a wing, or division, of our retreating army, in greatly superior strength.
Thus the right wing of Gen. McClellan's army, consisting of 85,000 men, was assailed at Gaines' Mill by not less than 60,000 army, consisting of 35,000 men, was assalled at Gaines' Mill by not less than 80,000 of the enemy. The rebel Gen. Les constantly reinforced his columns with fresh troops where fighting was going on, which was not the case on our side. The federal army was retreating to a new base of operations, and each corps and division commander was left to shift for himself. Sumton to gain information and to sell the state of the that Gov. Yates, whose procla-stantly reinforced his columns with fresh should have been so worally deceived in his man. It is some consolation at least, that his days are numbered. If we must have a Browning in the Senate, let such "fire on-the-rear" seesah as the Chicago Times be guilty of him.

Much has been said in regard to the situation before Corinth, while little has been said in regard to the situation behind Corinth.

When before Corinth Gen. Halleck had only are sorry to say that our platform, in yet so comprehensive, is not unly adopted as the rule of action. The same, his the army contractors, see present emergency a chance to ply and solely because the Democratic party in the North and the professor Unionists of the Border States have strensored, and they are busy—more busy stering up the reputation of their lates, and in pulling the astrings for needs of the their party, than in putting it to the war by the rout and ruin of who caused it. And to day there is an division in the country concerning easures which the Government adopt, or the Generals whom all most trust, that has not roin in some partians acknown or mention of the limits of the Union, the divine institution, round the farms are in the farms to be farmed to approach the subject of the rear," if the rebels were deprived of their slaves or their party, that has not roin in some partians acknown or the distinction of the divine institution, and the grant of the same of the Union, the divine institution or the divine institution or the divine institution or the country concerning the divine institution or the d farms are carried on as usual by negrous, under the care of the mistresses.

A pertinent inquiry is what the army behind Corinth is doing. It is said they are re-training their wasted energies, lost in entarenching, heavy marches and climatic exposures. Certain it is that they are foraging on blackberries, dieting on strong coffee, fat bacon, hard bread, occasionally relieved with buttermilk at fifteen cents a quart, onions at nfty cents a dozen, of the size of hen's eggsin hospital; and dress parade draws out from in hospital; and dress parade draws out from 200 to 400 to the regiment, as the shades of evening invite to exercise.

It may be giving aid and comfort to the enemy to thus give a trathful picture of the army of the Mississippi, but as the enemy are having the full benefit of it what more can they ask? besides this, they know the condition of every regiment and its location, and are as well posted in the movements as the officers themselves. While every able bodied white man among the robel nonless of 2,000 early and two light guns with the full to collect a force of 2,000 early and two light guns with which they have sedvaced into kentucky. white man among the rebel population is off from home fighting the Union, is it not kind in our army to protect their slaves while pro-viding them subsistence, and to keep their women and children from starving. That these rebel families are pleased but not thank-ful for all this kind attention I know from nersonal; ramination.

This is no plan to improve the health of the army, for with he exception of the black-tierries, it has no redecades qualifies under the present condition of quart-mixter and commissary stores. There is pienty of poulty in the country, but the rebed women will not sell to our sick soldiers, and the sick in instance and in came must make the loast they clickens, a down gosities busy picking up crumbs about the tents, while pigs of various sizes were proviling around the camprunning their noses into mess boxes and water buckets. But-should a soldier lake one of tiese for foil, be would be sent to extra duty on tied up by his thumbs to a gun carriage. When I consider that a large majority of these soldiers are the some of armers, of mechanics and professional men, as well as the fathers themselves who emisted for the warout of patibite motives, it is singleing to thus see them sinking for the want of good, wholesome load with which the country abounds, and to be put at the ignoble task of standing guard over negro plantations whose masters are busy shooting down our men from fence corners and forest thickets.

The negroes are carrying on plantation of the loyal of other States, her rebels are engaged in warlike demonstrations, and to-day, at the instance of the Kentucky secondonias, the State is invaded by several of the bands of goernillas who have diagraced the rebel service, if it were possible to diagrace as dishonorable a service. The telegraph will already have told you of the invasion of the State by rebel cavalry, who appeared a Tompkinsville a day or two since; but the telegraph will not tell you that these men have come at the instigation of Kentucky secessionists—secessionists resident tere in the city, and under the eye of the provost marshal. Tet this is true, and will be developed some day, but the guilty will never be punished. And not only do we hear of their appearance at Tompkinsville. will never be punished. And not only do we hear of their appearance at Tompkinsville. The whole State is full of them. This city has furnished arms to guerrilla bands raised to this city and the adjoining county, and spen whose duty it is to know can easily procure the evidence of it if they are inclined to seek it. The fact of a strong guard being stationed here is all that prevents the city from being attacked. As it is, we hear of the demonstrations of those villains in every direction about tions of those villains in every direction about us, and we even fear that a large force may be tempted to look for spoils on Main street.

The federal pickets at Owensboro were fired upon on Tuesday last at night, and the camp aroused, but the guerillas had fled and escaped. The citizens of that place are said to be rebels of the meanest kind, and are positively known to have lent their aid to these bands. Certain signals rung by the citizens on Tuesday night served to warn the Union troops, as well as notify the rebels, and when the litter came in obedience to the signal they found our men prepared to receive teem.

We cannot pretend to specify localities. There are millions of acres still open to settlement of the very finest lands that the sun shines upon "in all his course." The best way for settlers to obtain information is to delegate one of their number—a man of close observation and sound judgment, to traval through no doubt. Sins:—I have two letters of freent date, and from reliable sources, giving me news from East Tennessee, which I desire to place you in possession of, and through you, the public generally.

The persecutions of the Union men continue, and really increase in severity. The property of all Union men in the Federal States and army was being sold at auction, including furniture, stock, grain, agricultural inplements, etc., no attention being paid to the accessities of their fandlies. The Union clitisens and soldiers who are in the prisons of Saliebury, Tucsoloosa and Mobile, are dying rapidly from the effects of tainted mest, rotten food, and starvation. We deem the following passage, from the sermon of Rev. Robert Collyer, on our national peril, worthy of republication. It is true as holy writ that we, as a people, have been in contact terre test in the serior contact test in the serior co been in constant terror lest in trying to save the Union we might destroy slavery:

Friends, this is the gravest danger of all to-day, the surest indication that we have not come to the kingdom for such a time as this. The fee is in deadly earnest to shatter the Union and preserve slavery. We are in con-stant terror lest in trying to save the Union we should destroy shavery.

Only what belongs wholly to the devil is sacred. Indeed, it is to me a terrible symptom of disease in some vital part, that nothing seems to be held sacred but this most infernal causgof all our agony and danger. We call

And when this is clearly understood by them, the government will wield the most potent arm in the southern States. There will be no lack of laborers and soldiers, on the strength of a proclamation, conceived in good faith and not disavowed by the Exceutive.

The history of lisyit shows that the blacks will go with enthusiasm wherever they are led, by whites or by men of their own color, provided their steps never point again in the direction of slavery. Their stolid indifference vanishes when they have once got rid of the restraints of tyramy; they willingly incur the restraints of freedom to preserve their new position towards mankind. One of the grossest outrages ever perpetra-ted in the city occurred pasterday at the om-nibus stand, corner of Clark and Randolph streets. The perpetrator of the outrage was a driver in the employ of M. O. Walker & Co., named Richard Kelly; the victim, a colored man named W. E. Walker.

The latter was on his way to the southern part of the city and took a sest in the farther course of the bus which was then empty, as part of the city and took a sest in the farther corner of the bus which was then empty, as he had been accustomed to do for years. Shortly after, a woman got in and sat at the opposite end of the coach. At the hour of starting the driver came out from a saloon near by and observing Walker, stepped to the window and rudely exclaimed, "Come out of here, you G-d d-d nigger." Walker asked the reason, to which Relly replied, "There can't any nigger ride in my bus." "Why" said Walker "I have ridden in these busess for years and always paid my fare. I busees for years and always paid my fare. I was never ordered out of one before." Some further conversation ensued and finally Walker refused to come out. At this, in a boiling refused to come out. At this, in a boiling rage, the driver entered the bus seized Walker by the collar and roughly dragged him out and after getting him to the bottom of the steps dealt him a savage blow in the face. Walker had hitherto made little or no resistance, but upon receiving the blow seized the driver, threw him down, and with remarkable forbestance, did not return the blow, but contented himself with holding down his assairant, when he might have administered a swimmary punishment for the brutal treatment.

An immense crowd rapidly gathered, and the parties were separated. At this juncture, Sheriff Hessing came up, and Kelley drove off. The Sheriff Inquired the cause of the distarbance. After hearing the facts, he placed Walker ance. After hearing the facts, he placed Walker in the 'bus, and got in himself, accompanied by effect Chilson, Ald. Salomon and a member of the Hecker regiment, to protect the col-ored man. The 'bus started, followed by an ored man. The bus started, followed by an excited crowd, but no attempt was made to interfere. Kelley, in the meantime, had arrived at the southern terminus of the line, and expecting the arrival of Walker, had gathered a crowd of men from the adjacent cattle yards, when the Sheriff and his party arrived. Un-willing to create any disturbance, the Sheriff advised Walker to go down Clark street a dis-

In its every pliase the outrage was a brutal one and without the shadow of excuse. The Ariver had no authority for his conduct, and North side physician, charged with the seduc-tion of a daughter of W. T. Hounsby. The case has developed another phase in the arrest of the father of the girl, at the instance of Dr. Stanley, charging him with treats of personal violence. Mr. Hounsby was brought before the police markitrate vester, and that are present and have discharged him from their employ. The only rules Mr. Walker has ever made are substantially as follows: That no smoking shall be allowed, we are glad to know that neither Mr. Walker

The real cause of this trouble was not in any act performed by Mr. Walker, but is at-tributed to the teachings of such papers as the eccession Chicago Tomes and the attempts SHORT HAND REPORTING.—Elsewhere will be found the card of Geo. Naw Commission House.—We call attention to the advertisement of Mesers. Jos. H. Tucker & Co., commission merchants, to be found in this issue of the Tribune. Mr. Tucker, it will be seen, has associated with himself, Mesers. Geo. A. Gibbs and David Baell. The first named gentleman will be recognized by the business public of the northwest as one of the oldest and most respected of the business seen of Chicago. While a member of the firm of Raymond, Gibbs & Co., and later of Gibbs, Griffin & Co., he made for himself a reputation for business, promptaess, energy and gentlemanly courterly of-extensive with the northwest; and he will be welcomed back to his old position in the commission business by troops of old friends and new, both in sad out of the city. The other members of the firm, though newer to our city tham Mr. Gibbs, have novertheless been here sufficiently long to have established for themistives an enviable reputation in business searchess. We commend the new firm to the public as deserving a large share of their mire assembly.

Mr. J. Farwell, Superintendent of the North Market Mission, followed in an address to the children, inculcating in familiar language the great truths of Christianity, to which the little telds listened with marked attention.

Mr. Farwell's address was followed by the singing of the "Better Land," after which the superistendent of the different schools were called upon for reports. The following was presented by L. A. Kean, Superintendents of the superistendents of the superistendents of the superistendents of the world's ecosony. Boston, New York, and the great Union army draw from it their supplies of beef and pork. Immense mambers of cattle, and a multitude of those animals which in the time of our Savior ran down the hill into the sea, are here transformed into jork and beef. Bridgeport was once proverbisl for its wickedness. A little over a year age we spiritually captured Bridgeport. We opened a Sabbath school there with five scholars and four teachers. Now we have registered over one hundred and twenty; our library numbers three hundred volumes, we take fifty copies of the "Good News," children's papers; our missionary collections within the past year have resched eighty dollars; we have a children's prayer meeting and a teacher's meeting and Bible class; our lifant class numbers sixty; we have a church organization with forty members, and a temperance organization with over two hundred members. These are the results which, through the blessing of God, we have a chieved in a single year. Five of our number have passed from earth to heaven, where we condicately believe they are singing eternal praises before the throne of God."

This report was followed by singing by the Bridgeport school, after which a report was made by Charles Trudeau, Superintendent of which the Sherill and his party arrived.

Willing to create any disturbance, the Sherilf advised Walker to go down Clark street a distance and wait until the bus should reach him. He did so. Kelley mounted and dismounted from his box half-a-dozen times, and insuly suspecting that he should overtake Walker, refused to drive, and handed the lines to an outsider, instructing him not to admit any "niggers" in his bus. The vehicle started with the Sherilf and his party, and met Walker on State street, the driver being obliged to take a circuitous route, owing to repairs upon Clark street. Walker signaled the driver, but he refused to let him in. A large crowd having also gathered here, Walker crossed over to Clark street, and met the bus signal at 'Van Buren street. In the meantime a cylored woman had stopped the 'bus and was allowed to get in. Walker once more signalied the driver, and he admitted him.

The affair created in reality a profound sensation. All who were witnesses of the original outrage sympathised with the colored man and condemned the conduct of the driver in ummeaspred termis, except a mob of secession.

Buren Street Mission School, after which, Albert G. Lane, Superintendent, presented the PARK AVENUE MISSION SCHOOL. This school was organized a year ago with ien scholars and four teachers, under the came of the "Western Prairie School." This reme of the "Western Frairie School." It organization was copilined with varied st cers until the name was changed to the "fa Avenue Mission School," and attiched to t Ladies City Mission. We now number to hundred scholars, with an average attendan of one hundred and fifty; fifteen teachers; in 'ant class of sity-seven; a church organ zation with respectable membership, and dibrary of two hundred volumes. After singing by the scholars of this school, S. Chadwick, Superintendent, presented the report of the SEDGWICK STREET MISSION SCHOOL

SEDUMICA STREET MISSION SCHOOL.

This School was organized in $256 and first met in Wesley Chapel. Since the inception two superintendents have died. Last year our school registered one hundred and fifty scholars; teachers, eleven; Sabbath School papers taken, one hundred shooks in library, one hundred and fifty. The singing by this school was of a superior character and elicited considerable commendation. The Junction Mission School was not rep-

Advocate then addressed the teachers in substance as follows:

He had been requested to address the teachers on this occasion, but he acknowledged to feeling a hesitancy as to his competency. A landsman should not presume to instruct a sailor in navigation, and it would not be supposed that a person unfamiliar with architecture would presume to advise the architect. It was formerly required by the discipline of the church that when a young minister had decided to enter upon the relation of matrimony, he should consult with the presiding elder and his older brettern in the ministry. A German brother once visited an older cler-

DW We are glad to learn that a movement is on foot for another regiment in this District, under the new call for troops. The parties left last night for Springfield to see Gov. Yates, and will without doubt get the required authority. We are not at liberty to state names at present, but this much we can easy, one of the parties (Colonel to be) has seen two years service in the regular army, and the (Lieutenant Colonel to be) is a well known lawyer in this city. We know the men, and we know that such men can raise a regiment that will be a credit to Northern Illinois.

The fact was raported to Colonel Tucker and he immediately called for volunteers to climb the lofty staff and repair the damaga. Several undertook the feat but falled, when a private of Capt. Miller's Othawa Battery named James G. Pierce, stepped forward and commenced the ascent of the amooth and glossy spar. In eight minutes time he was at the crown piece and taking the knot of the halliard in his teeth descended to terra firms amid the hearty cheers of his comrades. In a few minutes the old flag was once more floating from its accustomed place. We understand a handsome donation was immediately made up by his fellow soldiers as a reward for his prompt response.
